TRANSLATION

Translation is the communication of meaning from one language (the source) to another language (the target). Translation refers to written information, whereas interpretation refers to spoken information. The purpose of translation is to convey the original tone and intent of a message, taking into account cultural and regional differences between source and target languages.

Steps for translation

1. Recognition of tenses in Urdu

- Tenses usually tell us the time of an action. In English this work is done by changing the verb form
- In Urdu this is showed by the last word of a sentence which is changed with respect to its time of past present and future. See the table below
- Tenses also tell us the status (nature/simple, continuity/continuous, completeness/perfect); this is showed by the second last word of an Urdu sentence. See the table below
- میں استاد ہوں (No action verb in this sentence, this is statement based sentence. Such statements are either Present simple or past simple)

ہے اور دشمن
عیسوں کو۔ اس لیے ہمیں اپنے دشمن کا زیادہ احسان مند ہونا چاہیے کہ وہ
ہمیں ہمارے عیبوں سے مطلع کرتا ہے۔ اس تناظر میں
دیکھا جائے تو دشمن دوست سے بہتر ثابت ہوتا ہے۔

Solution

In order to know about our hidden flaws, it is imperative that we know what our enemies say about us. Our friends often praise us as we want them. Firstly, they don't find a fault with /they are blind to our flaws or they do us a heart good and cover them to make us not feel hurt or ignore them. On the contrary, our enemy keeps fishing for finding our foibles. Although he tries to make a mountain out of a molehill, yet there is always some reality in that. A friend always promotes his friend's goods but an enemy highlights the flaws. So, we should be more indebted to our enemy because he makes us aware of our shortcomings. If seen in this context, an enemy is better than a friend.
